

Binary Gods - digging into my musical past

Don't you boys know any nice music?

This was a music project that was an ongoing effort between Bill Dunlop (vocals), Barry Tezuka (Bass), Murray Uncles (Guitar) and myself (Guitar). Lots of fun on many occasions. Here are a couple of tracks that we recorded with our friend Grant Taylor on drums. Grant was a full time drummer for The Salads at the time who very kindly came by for an afternoon to help us out.

Icarus

I'll warn you...they were rough cuts from our basement studio. The true talent in the room was Grant who had never listened to the songs, then after only a couple of rehearsal passes nailed the end to end track in 2 takes for each song.

Good times were had back in the day. We may be due for a revival once I'm back in the same time zone.
