

Podcast Episode 104 - Empathy in Recruiting and How 30 Seconds can Lead to Hiring Success with Ellie Dailey

Ellie Dailey is founder and CEO of an innovative online recruiting platform— Intro30.com. The platform allows job seekers to record an online video introduction as part of a shareable profile including a resume. Ellie shares insightful lessons in how to differentiate yourself from the pack during the recruiting process, how empathy in hiring and in tech companies in general is game-changing for growth and retention, plus more.

This is also an early listen to the very cool initiative called Job Prep Global which is creating coaching and advisory for folks who need help getting into and succeeding at being hired. Thank you to Ellie for sharing very important lessons and stories that are a must-listen for anyone who's in tech, recruiting, or in any role in business at all.

Listen to the episode here.

<https://disco possepodcast.com/episode-104-empathy-in-recruiting-and-how-30-seconds-can-lead-to-hiring-success-with-ellie-dailey/>

Listen and Subscribe on iTunes here:

Podcast Episode 103 - Empathy in Recruiting and How 30 Seconds can Lead to Hiring Success with Ellie Dailey

PODCAST LINK:

<https://disco possepodcast.com/episode-104-empathy-in-recruiting-and-how-30-seconds-can-lead-to-hiring-success-with-ellie-dailey/>